

REACH SAFETY, IS THE REPORT

Russian General Sends Word The Retreat Is Ended In Safety For Troops.

PLACE OF RENDEZVOUS UNKNOWN

Stragglers Were Cut Off, But The Main Body Reached Safety---Fighting Still Continues.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPTS-M'RAE.]

London, March 22.—A dispatch from Reuters states that the Russian army has reached a place in safety, but that the irregular stragglers were cut off by the Japanese. The place of the Russian rendezvous is not given.

Gunzhu Pass
A dispatch from Gunzhu pass, 108 miles north of Tieling, states that Kurapatkin arrived there yesterday to assume command of the first army and he received a great ovation from the troops. This place, which has a large railroad station and a Red Cross settlement with all army facilities, is now an enormous camp overflowing with soldiers. The booming of guns was heard on the right flank today.

Later Report
A dispatch from Gunzhu pass, dated the 20th, states: "Our rear guard has now occupied Sipingha, 70 miles north of Tieling. The enemy continues to follow, but the pursuit is slow. The main Japanese army is apparently remaining at Tieling. Our four days' rest at Tieling gave us a chance to reform the army and recover from the recent hardships. Since then the march has continued in an orderly fashion, but so rapidly that many horses and cattle died of exhaustion. It is reported a force of irregulars, which is operating to the eastward, was cut off before the news of the battle of Mukden reached them, and compelled to retreat to the northeast, probably making for Kirin."

New Move of Japs
General Linewitch reports today that on Monday the Russian advance posts observed the Japanese cavalry in large numbers, behind which appeared to be a number of bodies of infantry near the village of Machantzy. This is taken here to mean that Kamamura's army is about to attempt to envelop the movement from the Russian rear and fear is expressed as to the probable outcome.

RUSSIA FACES REBELLION.
St. Petersburg, March 22.—Recurrents and extensions of agrarian troubles are noted and near Libau workmen and peasants are making common cause. The Caucasus is already the scene of armed resistance to the forces of civil authority, and in the region around Kieff, where the peasants are increasingly bold, there have been many cases of violence.

The labor leaders of the social revolutionist persuasion in the great industrial centers are plainly planning to synchronize a general renewal of the strike with the climax of the peasant disorders and, with the action of the troops in mind, have been serving notice by anonymous letters and other warnings on guard officers here and officials in other cities that if another "red Sunday" comes and they order the troops to fire they will be held responsible therefor and their lives will be made the forfeit.

Zemstvo Makes Demand.
The Moscow assembly of zemstvos is forcing the hand of Interior Minister Bouligan in the matter of the reform of March 3 and has taken the bold step of practically demanding that the minister accept the services of zemstvo delegates throughout the empire in drawing up the plan of the new governmental organism to be created under the rescript. A strong hint is given that the present is no time for delay. Minister Bouligan is even told the number of delegates he should summon from various urban centers.

The action of the Muscovites, which will be communicated to other zemstvos, indicates a strong determination not to permit the movement to slumber or come to naught.

Police Chief Becomes Governor.
M. Lopoukine, chief of secret police, has been gazetted governor of Esthonia, a Baltic province of Russia. A newspaper in the Caucasus gives details of the burning of the administrative buildings recently in several towns in the Scharapont district and of an agrarian riot on the estate of Princess Murat at Reka, in the Zugidid district, at which the police were obliged to fire on the rioters, many of the latter being wounded.

to death this morning as the result of an explosion of gasoline which destroyed the house where they were staying.

ISRAELITES AWAITING THE COMING OF CHRIST

Religious Sect at Benton Harbor, Mich., Looks Forward to the Great Gathering at That Place.

Benton Harbor, Mich., March 22.—The Living Roll of Life, the religious sect which anticipates a visitation of God, announces that Mary and Benjamin, writers of the Star of Bethlehem, who as messengers left this city last November for Australia to speak to the people of the great hope of Israel, which those Australians, it is claimed, recognized as the voice they longed to hear, will arrive in New York to-day and will come in special cars direct to Benton Harbor, arriving here two days later. Many people have left their native country on account of oppression that they may be free to worship God in their way in free America, but these Australians have had no reason of this kind. They have had social and religious freedom, some of them prominent citizens of Melbourne. Thousands are yet to come for the great gathering of Israel at Benton Harbor.

Many Israelites, as they style themselves, all over the country have been waiting the return of Mary and Benjamin to come to the ingathering, and it is asserted they will now come by hundreds and thousands until the full number (144,000) is made up, as the closing time is at hand.

tine Law Is Constitutional.

Police Decide She Died from Heart Disease, and Was Not Poisoned.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPTS-M'RAE.]

San Francisco, Cal., March 22.—After a full examination of all the evidence secured both here and in Honolulu, the police have announced their conviction of the death of Mrs. Stanford was due to natural causes. They don't deny that strychnine was found in the carbonate soda which Mrs. Stanford took, but say it was not enough to produce death, which was due to heart disease resulting from acute indigestion. This announcement marks the end of the case as far as the police are concerned.

MAKES PLEA FOR HIS ASSAILANT

Victim of a Shooting Says the Attacker Was Not to Blame.

Appleton, Minn., March 22.—Herman Nagel, a farmer, shot his hired man, Ole Lee, inflicting a mortal wound. Lee had been drinking and went home in ugly mood. When Nagel chided him for his condition he started for his employer with threats.
Nagel ran into the house and hid in a closet. Lee battered the door in and knocked down Nagel, who then grabbed a revolver and fired, the ball striking Lee just below the heart. Lee gave himself up and was bound over to the district court. Lee says Nagel was not to blame.

of the suicide clause in an assess-was given in the case of Perry P.

for $1,000 and a short time later she killed herself. The company refused

TAFT PLANS A CANAL BOARD

Secretary Of War Would Place Absolute Control In A Few Persons' Hands.

RESENTS CRITICISM BY DR. REED

Holds That Delay In Furnishing Sanitary Supplies On The Isthmus Was Due To Unwieldy Size Of Board.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPTS-M'RAE.]

Washington, March 22.—In a letter written to the President concerning the criticisms of Dr. C. A. L. Reed, regarding the work of the isthmian canal commission Secretary of War Taft recommends the placing of the control of the canal under one head, or at least under a commission composed of not more than three members. The secretary added that he will submit to the president in a short time a plan for the rearrangement of the commission which, he believed, would remedy many of the things complained of.

President Roosevelt in his reply said he would give Secretary Taft's plan immediate attention when received.

Taft Flays Reed.

Secretary Taft's letter contains severe criticism of Dr. Reed for making public his criticisms, and adds that "his charges against the commission were biased and controversial, and not written in the judicial spirit which inspires confidence in their justice and accuracy."

Dr. Reed's mission to the isthmus, it appears, was as a real estate assessor, but he was asked to report on conditions on the isthmus. His report was published without the consent of the secretary, who says:
"It is doubtless true that there have been undue delays in the furnishing of what was needed for sanitary purposes on the isthmus, but I venture to think that this is due rather to the inherent clumsiness of the commission as an executive body than to the neglect or wilful nonaction of any member of that board. There must be some restraint for purposes of economy upon expenditures by an executive who has in mind the total expenditures and obligations being incurred. To allow each department to expend what in its judgment is necessary will certainly lead to extravagance and waste."

Executive Head of Board.

The question of the appointment of Horace G. Burt as executive head of the reorganized canal commission was discussed at the cabinet meeting. A statement of the president's decision will be given out prior to Mr. Roosevelt's departure on his southwestern trip.

Two prominent railroad men, S. S.
Felton, president of the Chicago and Alton, and L. F. Lorce, formerly president of the Baltimore and Ohio and Rock Island, are being considered for places on the Panama canal commission, and probably will be appointed.
Mr. Felton is an old friend of Secretary Taft. When Mr. Taft was a federal judge in Ohio he appointed Mr.
Felton receiver of the Cincinnati Southern Railroad, in which position he displayed marked ability.

INDIAN BRAVES SWEAR TO AVENGE DEAD BRIDE

Members of Musquakie Tribe Take Solemn Oath to Hunt Down Mur-derer of Chief's Daughter.

Des Moines, Iowa, March 22.—To avenge the supposed murder of the daughter of their chief every brave in the Musquakie Indian tribe on the Tama reservation in this state has taken a solemn oath. And for three weeks a careful search has been made in every nook furnished by the underlying prairies surrounding the reservation for the body of the unfortunate Ma Puck Chee.

Lacking aside his royal headgear,
Chief Push-E-To-Neke-Qua has aided in the search for his daughter and in final desperation has sent parties of his tribe to drag the bed of the Iowa river, which flows through the reservation, for miles. But though for twenty-one days the search has been carried on the 17-year-old Indian belle, who but recently became a bride, is yet undiscovered. Her departure is shrouded in mystery.

The young Indian left so suddenly a widower has sworn to avenge the death of his bride if it is discovered she has been made the victim of a jealous lover's wrath, for such is one of the theories advanced.

That a jilted lover, enraged at her marriage with another, may have sought such revenge is believed strongly by the white population.

WATER POWER FOR ITS TROLLEY

New York Central Makes Big Contract With Hudson River Company.

Glens Falls, N. Y., March 22.—A between the trolley interests of the New York Central railroad and the Hudson River Water Power company of this village for power to run the company's central New York trolley systems. The minimum annual payment will be $120,000 and if the maximum of 20,000 horsepower is used the payment will be $500,000. The contract period is twenty-five years. Delivery will be made at Schenectady, Amsterdam, Little Falls, Oriskany and Utica, and in the latter city a large auxiliary steam plant will be built for use in an emergency.

Casey, a negro girl, 10 years old, fell

ANTI-CIGARETTE BILL LAID OVER

Senate Will Not Vote Until Next Week—Other Bills Passed in Both Houses.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPTS-M'RAE.]

Madison, Wis., March 22.—The assembly this morning killed the Warner bill to prevent the exhibiting of snakes and reptiles, and also another bill introduced by the same legislator to have the attorney general of the state investigate the trusts. The bill requiring persons making plats or additions or subdivisions of real estate to submit the plans to the common council was the scene of another debate on the anti-cigarette bill, which was advanced to passage last week, and it finally was laid over for a week by a vote of 15 to 13. The calendar is getting longer daily and the sessions are getting shorter. The number of bills killed grows steadily.

The most spirited debate in the senate this session occurred today over the Fear bill to exempt from taxation $800 worth of property of Civil war veterans or their widows.
The Eaton bribery trial in Milwaukee was dragged in by way of charging that the bills were digested overtime and cigars in the hotels and saloons. Senator Bird, the only veteran in the senate, opposed the bill, as did Senator Hudnall, because it is an economical question and old soldiers have been well cared for already. McGillivray made a characteristic Memorial day Fourth of July oration in favor of the bill, while Fear jumped on Hudnall for lack of patriotism. The debate was exceedingly acrimonious at times. The final vote was 14 to 14 and Lieutenant Governor Davidson broke the tie in favor of advancing the bill.
The speech of Captain Pliny Norcross in the committee in favor of the bill was referred to at length in the debate in the senate and seemed to be the determining factor.

BEEF TRUST IS HARD AT WORK

Chicago Grand Jury Is Hard at Work
On the Evidence Thus Far Presented.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPTS-M'RAE.]

Chicago, Ill., March 22.—The federal grand jury empaneled to investigate the alleged beef trust was completed this morning with twenty-two men. These were sworn in and instructed by Judge Humphrey, who said the matter to be presented involved the violations of the United States statutes. He directed the jurors' attention to the law which fixes the penalty for the violation of laws against the restraint of trade. He cautioned the jury to exercise the greatest secrecy. Eight witnesses were summoned to appear this afternoon. The agents of the packers are everywhere in evidence about the building.

GUESSING CONTEST A LOTTERY

Newspaper Scheme to Give Prizes on Election Forecasts Is Prohibited.

Columbus, O., March 22.—A newspaper guessing contest on votes cast at an election is a lottery and therefore prohibited by law, according to a decision of the supreme court. Samuel A. Stevens participated in the guessing contests last fall, but did not win a prize. He sued three papers for an equal redistribution of the prizes to all participants. He lost, the court holding that he did not have the right to represent all those who sent in guesses.

NEW NORMAL IS TO BE BUILT NOW

LA CROSSE WILL RECEIVE THE COVETED PLUM.

THIS SEEMS TO BE THE IDEA

Legislature Has Much To Plan For as to Educational Schools This Session.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., March 22.—La Crosse is to win in its campaign for the establishment of a new state normal school, being the eighth in the Wisconsin system, which already surpasses the normal school systems of the neighboring states. The proposition to place an additional normal school at La Crosse was at first looked upon as a dream and impracticable in view of the fact that $240,000 is demanded for a new school and $115,000 for a new building for the Platteville school.

Morris Insistent
So persistent, however, has been Senator Thomas Morris of La Crosse that the bill to appropriate $30,000 for the purchase of the site and the preparation of plans is practically assured of passage. The bill has been given an extensive hearing before the assembly and senate committees on education, sitting jointly, and has been favorably reported to the senate. It went to the committee on claims as to all bills that carry appropriations.

A Hearing
Thursday afternoon a hearing was given the measure by the joint committee on claims and there appeared Congressman J. J. Esch of La Crosse. He made the leading representation in favor of the bill. Although he presented practically nothing that had not already been argued for the bill, either before the committees on education or among the members, his remarks were potent and left the best possible impression. After the hearing it was learned that Senator Burns, chairman of the committee on claims, as well as other members, were strongly convinced in favor of the wisdom of passing the bill.

SALE OF MADISON'S BIG POWER PLANT

Gives Rise to New Conjectures Regarding Dormant Interurban Project.

F. Warren Montgomery of New York has purchased the stock of the Madison Traction Co. and the transfer of the property will be made on or before May 1. The stock was sold for $200,000, or $120 a share, which is $50 above par. The bonded indebtedness of the company is $210,000, so the entire plant is valued at $500,000. P. L. Spooner, a brother of Senator Spooner, is the retiring president. He is interested in a proposed five million-dollar water-power plant at Kibbourn, which, if realized, will generate enough electricity to light half the cities of southern Wisconsin. The project originated several years ago when the idea of building an interurban line from Janesville to Madison first took definite form. Whether or not the New York capitalist who has just come into possession of the Madison plant has similar plans regarding an electric road between the two cities, is not known.

A GOOD DEAL OF NONSENSE.

About "Blood Purifiers" and "Tonics"

Every drop of blood, every bone, nerve and tissue in the body can be renewed by one way and that is, from wholesome food properly digested. There is no other way and the idea that a medicine in itself can purify the blood or supply new tissues and strong nerves is ridiculous and on a par with the folio-rol that dyspepsia or indigestion is a germ disease, or that other fallacy, that a weak stomach which refuses to digest food can be made to do so by irritating and inflaming the bowels by pills and cathartics.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets cure indigestion, sour stomach, gas and bloating after meals, because they furnish the digestive principles which weak stomachs lack, and, unless the deficiency of pepsin and diastase is supplied, it is useless to attempt to cure stomach trouble by the use of "tonics," "pills" and "cathartics" which have absolutely no digestive power, and their only effect is to give a temporary stimulation.

One grain of the active principle in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest 3,000 grains of meat, eggs and similar foods, and experiments have shown that they will do this in a glass bottle at proper temperature, but of course are much more effective in the stomach.

There is probably no remedy so universally used as Stuart's Tablets, because it is not only the sick and ailing, but well people who use them at every meal to insure perfect digestion and assimilation of food.

People who enjoy fair health take Stuart's Tablets as regularly as they take their meals, because they want to keep well, prevention is better than cure, and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do both; they prevent indigestion and they remove it where it exists. The regular use of one or two of them after meals will demonstrate their merit and efficiency better than any other argument.

SHARP SURVEILLANCE TO BE KEPT ON THE DUCK HUNTERS

Game-Warden Drafiel Says He Will Keep Vigilant Lookout Until Spring Season Opens.

Deputy Game-Warden Peter Drafiel warns hunters that an unusually sharp surveillance will be kept on their movements from now up to the opening of the spring duck-hunting season. While in the city yesterday he was inclined to take a pessimistic view of human nature in general, arguing that there were no duck hunters at Lake Koshkonong as yet simply because no ducks had arrived up to the present time. He was certain that there had been some game-law violations out on the prairie lands near this city.

HEADQUARTERS TO BE DECIDED SOON

Ringling Brothers May Select Janesville as Winter Quarters Yet.

Since the purchase of a half interest in the Forepaugh-Sells circus by the Ringling Brothers, the question of locating the winter quarters of this show has been widely discussed. Baraboo is the winter home of the Ringling show since the six brothers started in business with a racoon and a few owls for a menagerie. It has been stated on authority that the Ringlings, who have the managerial charge of the Forepaugh-Sells combination are planning to move the headquarters from Columbus, Ohio, to some Wisconsin city. Janesville and Madison have both been talked of and Secretary Bingham of the Janesville Business Men's association recently received a letter from Otto Ringling stating that this decision of city would be settled during the summer and that when it is Janesville will be carefully considered. It is known that Janesville is a favorite town for the Ringling Brothers and this fact with its location on the railroad, its nearness to Chicago and the fact that it is only a short distance from Baraboo, where the Ringlings' headquarters are located, may tend to bring Janesville into particular prominence. Associated with the Ringlings in the ownership of the Forepaugh-Sells show is J. A. Bailey, the owner of the Barnum & Bailey circus. Rumors that the Ringlings and Mr. Bailey have formed an even closer alliance than the ownership of the new show are current and one report has it that Mr. Bailey has purchased an interest in the Ringling show and the Ringlings in the great Barnum show. Madison papers recently had a story to the effect that the winter quarters of the Barnum show at Bridgeport, Connecticut, are to be moved west and may be located in Madison. This, however, is thought to be a mistake by the showmen generally, as the plan of the new circus trust seems to be to keep one show in the east, one in the middle west and one in the west, thus covering the whole country. Mr. Bailey also owns the Buffalo Bill Wild West show, which will stay in Europe for some time, and one of the three circuses, it is said, will keep on the other side all the time, so that both Europe and America will be well covered. Should the Forepaugh show decide upon Janesville as their winter quarters it would mean a large force of men employed here during the winter and increased business for the merchants. There are good locations in Spring Brook where quarters could be erected and side-tracks placed that could easily accommodate the entire show.

SIXTY YEARS OF MARRIED LIFE

MR. AND MRS. SAMUEL HULL CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY.

PIONEERS IN ROCK COUNTY

Have Lived on the Same Farm During Their Entire Wedded Life.

Seldom in the history of any community west of the Allegheny mountains, does a wedded couple celebrate their sixtieth wedding anniversary in the same homestead that they came to immediately after the wedding over a half century before. The west is not old enough to boast of the type of homestead of New England where great-grandchildren today live in the old home their ancestors built. At Johnston on Monday last, however, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hull commemorated their sixtieth anniversary of marriage in the old homestead that they moved into the day they were married on March 20, 1845.

SAMUEL HULL

Three years before Wisconsin became a state. There were present at this notable gathering some seventy-five relatives and many old neighbors of the couple and the day was one of rejoicing and merriment.

Samuel Hull was born February 18th, 1821, in Homer, Courtland county, New York. In 1840 he moved west with his parents and settled in Rock county. Mrs. Hull was also born in New York state, her name before her marriage being Mary James Hunsley. She was born in Chatham, Columbia county, on May 16, 1826, being five years younger than her husband. When a young girl she went to Middlefield, Mass., where she learned the art of weaving, but on the death of her mother and the removal of her father to Wisconsin in 1843, she came with him as his housekeeper. The wedding sixty years ago took place at her father's home, which was located in the town of Richmond and the same day the couple began housekeeping in the same home they now live in. Eight children were born of this union, five of whom are dead, three surviving. The deceased were Mrs. Arthur Cary of this city, Mrs. Henry Willis of Minneapolis, and the Misses Milla and Mary, and Ernest. The three surviving sons are Edson, who is in the cattle business in Montana; Dr. Hull of Milton Junction and George Hull, who conducts the home farm.

MRS. SAMUEL HULL

Hale and Hearty
Mr. Hull and his wife are both hale and hearty considering their advanced age. It was only after Mr. Hull had passed his seventieth milestone that he desisted from active farm work and even now he aids with advice the progress of the farm life, while Mrs. Hull does many things about the house. At the gathering last Monday, aside from the three sons and their families, were the families of the deceased members of the family, many relatives of Mrs. Hull, including three sisters and fifteen grand-children, seventy-five in all. A sumptuous dinner was served and the day especially enjoyed by all those present who gathered to pay tribute to this remarkable couple. H. E. Cary of Janesville, a grandson, and his father, A. W. Cary, of Janesville, were among the guests present.

RETURN VISIT OF "THE STROLLERS"

Musical Comedy Which Pleased, Two Years Ago, Well Received at The Myers Last Night.

Those who had seen "The Strollers" with the original cast, when the lines, the jests, the horse-play, the scenic investiture, the costumes, and the music, were all brand-new, were somewhat disappointed in last night's presentation, as was to be expected. Others who saw it for the first time—and they evidently composed a majority of the good-sized audience at the Myers theatre—repeatedly manifested their approval of principals and cast with generous applause. The first act dragged, but Robert Lett and his group of little Irish girls in green caught the fancy of the onlookers early in the second and after that no snore-provoker or song from any source whatsoever failed to connect. Lett's "August Lump the stroller" was a jovial characterization and his mellow voice was used to good advantage in "The Lives of Famous Men" and other ballads, and Dwight Allen as "Kanter the jester" made the most of his ridiculous situations. The work of Maidsa Snyder in her role of "Mimi the ballet dancer from the Folies Bergere of Paris" was high class. She was by far the most competent of the women members of the cast and her dancing, and the singing of "Back back, back to Baltimore" made a big hit. Gene Janeska whose voice is a trifle shrill but who is otherwise pleasing, made an acceptable "gypsy companion to Lump" and Joe Smith Maria was good as "Prince Adolphe De Bumsky," the top with the quavering falsetto. Beatrice Cadiz had a small dancing part as "Little Giddy Two Shoes" which pleased immensely. If the female contingent of the chorus lacked in comeliness, they carried out their evolutions with grace and agility and sang well.

DANIEL MCKELLIPS IS NINETY-EIGHT

Anniversary of His Birth Was Celebrated at His Home in Johnstown Last Friday.

To celebrate a ninety-eighth birthday is a privilege which is granted to but few. Of these few, the greater number are hardy pioneers of the days when Wisconsin was yet an unexplored territory full of forests and wildernesses. Daniel McKellips, who is probably the oldest living resident of Rock county, passed his ninety-eighth milestone Friday, March 17 at his home in the town of Johnstown. He is a native of the Green Mountain state and not only is probably the oldest man in the county but also belongs to the class of earliest settlers, having come to Johnstown in 1837, entering two claims, one of 500 acres for his father and one of 160 acres for himself. He then returned to Indiana where on his journey westward he left his father and brother, and brought them to their home in the new lands of the northwest. Mr. McKellips was united in marriage to Miss Elmyra Woodward in the east about six years before his settlement in Johnstown. To be sure his union five children were born. Daniel McKellips has for many years been retired from active life, but nevertheless is keenly interested in the welfare of the community where he resides. He was, in the days when history was being made in the county, a prominent and influential citizen and his past life has made him now one of its most greatly respected residents.

SPECIAL MATCH MAY BE HELD AS A SIDE ISSUE TO THE BIG GUN CLUB MEET.

E. M. HYZER'S CHALLENGE

Janesville Gun Club Arranging for a Series of Shoots for March 30.

There is a possibility that at the coming meet of the Janesville Gun club the recent challenge of E. M. Hyzer of Milwaukee to meet any amateur for a $500 side bet, will be accepted and an interesting contest take place. Mr. Hyzer's challenge recently appeared in the Chicago papers after his decisive victory over Mike White and W. D. Castillon and since that time many of the amateur shots have been anxious for a try-out. Mr. Hyzer, Mr. D. Castillon, Mike White and other prominent shots among the amateurs have been given special invitations to be present at the coming meet on the 30th and it is hoped at that time to arrange for the contest referred to.

Notable Meet
The coming meet promises to bring together some of the best shots in the country. W. R. Crosby of O'Fallon, Illinois, and Fred Gilbert of Spirit Lake, Iowa, the two gladiators of the trap-shooters, are to be present. H. C. Hershey, winner of the grand American handicap, W. D. Standard of Chicago, F. P. Stannard, the oldest professional trap-shooter in America, Ed Bingham, and others of equal note have all been sent invitations and it is expected they will all be present. To add to the interest of the events a special prize of a $100 L. C. Smith gun has been offered by the Hunter Arms company of New York, which will be shot for in a handicap event in the afternoon.

Many Gun Clubs
It is also expected that shots from Rockford, De Witt, Freeport, Milton, Evansville, Edgerton, Madison, Milwaukee, Palmyra, Watertown, Waukesha and Lake Mills will be present, as invitations have been sent to the clubs in those cities. The contests will take place at Athletic park, where elaborate arrangements are being made to care for the guests.

Daylight to Dark
The shooting will begin at daylight and will close at dark. Five traps will be used, the average distances being thirty yards. In the handicap events the distances will be ranged from 20 to 24 yards. Secretary J. H. McVicar reports that he is receiving answers by every mail, showing that the meet has created considerable excitement and that there will be a large number of persons present.

THE IMPORTS.

The imports into the United States in February, 1905, were larger than in any earlier year in the history of our commerce, and the excess of exports over imports was smaller than in any month since June, 1897. The only earlier month in the history of our commerce in which imports have passed the 100 million dollar line was in April, 1897, when large quantities of foreign merchandise, especially sugar, were being rushed in to escape the increased duties levied by the Dingley Act, which went into effect in July of that year. The total value of imports in that month (April, 1897), was $101,322,406, while that of the month of February, 1905, was $103,057,052.

The imports of February, although a short month, were 103 million dollars as against $9 millions in February, 1904, 82½ millions in February, 1903, 68 millions in February, 1902, 64½ millions in February, 1901, and 69 millions in February, 1900. The exports of February, 1905, were 109 millions, against practically 119 millions in February of 1904, 125½ millions in February, 1903, 101½ millions in February, 1902, 113 millions in February, 1901, and 119 millions in February, 1900. The excess of exports over imports in February, 1905, was in round terms 6 million dollars, as against practically 30 millions in February, 1903, 43 millions in February, 1902, 33 millions in February, 1901, 48 millions in February, 1900, and 50 millions in February, 1900. For the eight months ending with February, 1905, the imports were in round terms 729 million dollars, as against 654 millions in the corresponding months of the preceding fiscal year; while the exports were 1,010 millions as against practically 1,048 millions in the corresponding months of the preceding year.

The excess of exports over imports in the eight months ending with February was 281 millions, as against 393½ millions in the corresponding months of the preceding fiscal year and 491½ millions in the corresponding months of the fiscal year 1901. The February imports, as already indicated, are larger than those of any earlier month in the history of our commerce, and the exports are smaller than those of any earlier February since 1900, with the single exception of February, 1902; and the excess of exports over imports is smaller than in any month since October, 1895, except the three months of April, May, and June, 1897, when imports were exceptionally high by reason of preparation for the change in tariff which occurred in July of that year. These figures are from the official publications issued by the department of commerce and labor through its bureau of statistics.

This reduction in exports is, as already been indicated, due chiefly to the falling off in the quantity of wheat exported and a reduction in the price per pound of cotton exported. The wheat exports in the month of February amounted to only $103,051, against $1,203,043 in February of last year, and the flour $2,375,145, against $5,811,841. This reduction in the exportation of wheat and flour is believed to be due in part to the extraordinary large crops of wheat in other parts of the world which share in supply the demand of the wheat-importing countries, in part to unusually large demand in the United States, and in part to the fact that our crop of last year was considerably less than that of the preceding year. The exports of cotton in February fell nearly 11 million dollars in value below those of February of the preceding year, and this was due entirely to the fall in prices, the quantity exported in February, 1905, being considerably greater than in February, 1904. Thus, in wheat, flour and cotton, the exports of February, 1905, fell about 15 million dollars below those of February, 1904, while the total exports of all kinds in February, 1905, fell but about 10 million dollars below those of February, 1904, indicating that in other articles than cotton, flour, and wheat there was an increase in February, 1905, compared with February, 1904.

For the eight months ending with February exports of cotton show a falling off in value of over 28 millions, compared with the corresponding month of the preceding year, and breadstuffs show a falling off of nearly 52 millions compared with the corresponding months of last year, making the total reduction in cotton and breadstuffs 80 million dollars, while the grand total of all exports for the eight months ending with 1905 fell only 28 million dollars below those of the corresponding months of last year, thus indicating that in articles other than cotton and breadstuffs there has been a material increase in the exports of the eight-months period ending with February. This increase in exports other than cotton and breadstuffs apparently occurs chiefly in manufactures, which, for the seven months ending with January, showed an increase of 52 million dollars over the corresponding seven months of the preceding year. The figures of imports of manufactures for the month of February have not yet been completed by the bureau of statistics, and therefore only those for the seven months ending with January can be indicated at present.

Turning to the import side, the large increase in importations apparently occurs chiefly in manufactures' materials and articles of food. The detailed figures of the imports by articles are only available up to the end of January, the February figures not yet having been completed. The seven months ending with January, however, show an increase of 33 million dollars in imports of articles in a crude condition for use in manufacturing and of about 30 millions in articles of food. The increase in importations of manufactures' materials occurred chiefly in India rubber, nearly 6 millions, raw silk, 12 millions, and about 8 millions in certain other articles used by manufacturers. The increase in importations of food stuffs occurred chiefly in coffee, about 17 million dollars, and sugar about 14 millions. In manufactures the figures for the seven months ending with January show a slight reduction as compared with the corresponding month of last year, though in these statements with reference to details of imports it should be understood that the figures are for the seven months ending with January, the details for February not having been completed.

For nearly forty years, Albert Salisbury has been identified with the public school work in this state. He served as a young man in the ranks of Uncle Sam's army during the war. After that he completed his education and became a teacher. He has been for twenty years in charge of one of our strongest normal schools, and in this position has come into contact with the educational leaders of the country. One of the most gratifying circumstances in connection with his campaign is the fact that these men, regardless of party, support him to a man. Mr. Salisbury is a man who has given his life to the cause of education. His campaign will consist of an effort to place before the people his qualifications for the office and will aim to leave the decision with the independent voters who desire nothing more than the good of the schools.

PRESS COMMENT.

Racine Journal: On the ballot this spring is a place to vote for or against a city park, but every good citizen will certainly vote for the park project.

Sheboygan Journal: Sheboygan parents who fail to attend the parents' meetings now being held in the ward school houses ought to be made to furnish a written excuse from their children.

Madison Democrat: The profligate, absurd and uncalled for scheme to hold a convention to revise the state constitution apparently has begun its eternal sleep in the archives of some sane committee.

Green Bay Gazette: Another vicious bill has been introduced into the state legislature. It is no less than a bill to legalize race track gambling. Evidently the gamblers are represented in the legislature.

Richland Center Observer: The members of the legislature are having fun at Madison with the bill to tax bachelors. The next thing we know someone will come along with a plan to pension old maids.

Manitowish Pilot: An exchange contains an editorial deploring the patent medicine evil. It is a well written article, but the arguments advanced are rendered nugatory by the fact that on the same page appear several advertisements setting forth the virtues of certain patent remedies. These things don't jibe, brother.

Bryan's Commoner: "It is now reported," says the Chicago Record-Herald, "that Mr. Bryan owns valuable oil lands." The report is as untrue as the Record-Herald's claim to be an independent newspaper, and Mr. Bryan owns no oil lands.

Milwaukee Free Press: Wisconsin will not appear in his proper person at the Portland exposition next summer. The money is needed at home. The state institutions are clamoring for additions and improvements, and it is felt to be time to begin to economize.

Washington Star: "These," said the epicure to the bright Philadelphia girl, "are snails. I suppose Philadelphia people don't eat them for fear of cannibalism." "Oh, no," was the answer: "It isn't that. We couldn't catch them."

Neenah Times: The strained relations hitherto existing between Chicago and Milwaukee are at an end. Wednesday Mayor Harrison rescued Mrs. Fischer's yellow dog Pido, from the clutches of the dog-catcher. Pido had on a Milwaukee tag, and Mayor Harrison held that "a Milwaukee license is just as good as a Chicago license." Shake!

Lafayette Morning Journal: That was a beautiful sentiment expressed by a president in his address to the national congress of mothers—"The man is but a poor creature whose effort is not rather for the betterment of his wife and children than for himself; and as for the mother, her very name stands for loving unselfishness and self-sacrifice, and, in any society fit to exist, is fraught with associations which render it holy."

Chicago Chronicle: A Georgia man named Blackburn is shocked to find the chancellor of the University of Georgia, Dr. Hill, speaking in print of "the entailed curses of slavery." In Blackburn's opinion the slaveholding civilization was "the gentlest and noblest civilization that the world has ever known, a civilization that blessed the slave and softened the master," etc.

New York Tribune: Menominee, Mich., was being slighted by Cupid. The young persons of the northern peninsula of Michigan were either not marrying or, at any rate, not at Menominee. Justice Vanden Berg set about correcting this neglect. This advertisement has been running in the Menominee papers for several weeks: "Justice Vanden Berg will hereafter give trading stamps with every marriage certificate." The justice now is doing a business like a department store on bargain Mondays.

Evening Wisconsin: Are women in Wisconsin eager for the ballot? They have not shown it if they are. The Milwaukee women who desire to do so can vote at the coming election for the state superintendent of schools. The women in the rural districts of Wisconsin, who desire to do so can vote not only for their preference as state superintendent, but also for their preferences as county superintendents. It will be interesting to see how many will take advantage of their privilege. At the general election last year the women who voted numbered only about 20,000. Milwaukee alone can show a larger poll than that at the election next month, if the women of Milwaukee care to vote.

Milwaukee Sentinel: The so-called "recall" bill now pending in the Wisconsin legislature is one of those reform nostrums that are warranted to cure political ills, but which contain deadly poisons in large quantities. This bill provides that at any time a certain per cent of the constituents of an alderman may file a petition for the removal of their representative to a special election shall be ordered to determine the question. If a majority of the voters favor the recall the office becomes vacant and a new representative shall be elected. A proposition has been made to extend the bill to cover members of town and county boards and legislators. The principles upon which representative governments are founded requires a member of a lawmaking body to use what intelligence nature has endowed him with in an effort to understand the character and probable effect of measures presented to him for approval or rejection. He is not a mere voting machine, an automaton that has neither judgment or will. He has no right to vote for a measure that he believes will operate to the disadvantage of his constituents, even when his constituents have approved of the general policy which the measure is intended to carry into effect. Elections occur at frequent intervals and obnoxious or corrupt representatives can be recalled when their short terms have expired. To place a club in the hands of political agitators with which to intimidate representatives would be to weaken rather than strengthen the common councils and legislatures.

Federal Marshals and State Troops No Longer Watch Leiter's Mine.
Springfield, Ill., March 22.—For the first time since last September there are neither United States deputy marshals nor state troops to guard Joe Leiter's mine at Zeigler. The state troops were removed last month and Tuesday United States Marshal Hitch ordered the fifty deputy marshals who have been stationed there since last November to withdraw and they did so. They have been under command of General James H. Barkley of this city. The injunction which Judge Humphrey, who approved the marshal's order, issued against the strikers interfering in any manner with the operation of the mine still continues in force.

STUMBLE ON TON OF SILVER

Ohio Men Discover Treasure Supposed to Have Been Left by Indians.
Akron, Ohio, March 22.—While walking along the south shore of Silver lake George Lodge stumbled upon a huge pile of metal, which was found to be silver. Making further investigation, he and his brothers dug out twenty-six large billets of an average weight of "100" pounds, making over a ton in all. For many years the late Henry Wetmore, who died at the age of 110 years, told a story how an encampment of 500 Indians, shortly before the battle of Tippecanoe, left the vicinity of this lake in a single night and it is thought this silver was the treasure they dumped into the water for safekeeping.

JANESVILLE BOY CAPTAIN OF TEAM

Tom Leahy Head and Catcher of the University Base Ball Nine— Good Chances for Pennant.

Madison, Wis., March 22.—The training of the University of Wisconsin baseball team has so far progressed under the direction of coach "Bemis" Pierce that it is practicable to declare the policy of the coach as well as the personnel of the team with tolerable accuracy. Coach Pierce declares that he is trying for a hitting team. He has available for his purposes all the members of the strong team of championship claimers of last year and some 30 more good players of sufficient merit to go into an intercollegiate contest. He will develop as many as possible candidates for each position and make the choice on the basis of hitting ability. Candidates, therefore, are being told that much will depend on their hitting in the preliminary games of the schedule. This announcement by the coach is pleasant to the fans of the university. Every lover of baseball loves to see his favorite team a "bunch of hitters" and it is felt here that the badgers will be feared this season by reason of the grip they will carry to the twirlers of the opposing college teams. Coach Pierce says he will give the positions to the men who can deliver the safe hits. He will "give an error of a hit any time," he says, meaning that a man who makes an error will be placed on the team if he can show up reliably in the batting averages. Although Coach Pierce has not chosen the team and says he cannot do so until after a good bit of practice out of doors, the most likely selection will be as follows:

Dangerous Vertigo

Dizziness or Swimming of the Head Associated With a Sense of Fullness, Dull Pain or Nervous Sick Headache is a Certain Indication of an Oncoming Apoplexy or Paralysis.

DR. A. W. CHASE'S NERVE PILLS.

If the persons subject to attack of dizziness or swimming of the head stop to realize that these symptoms are not a disease in themselves, but temporary ailments, but the plainest sort of warnings from nature of grave troubles of deeper origin, of an exhausted nervous system or of an oncoming apoplexy, epilepsy or paralysis, the matter would receive prompt attention. Dr. A. W. Chase knew this and provided the cure of his celebrated Nerve Pills, a medicine that brings back the glow of health and strength by its power to furnish just what the ill-fed, half starved nervous system needs, good rich, wholesome blood and nerve force or energy.

Tired, sick nerves cause nervous headaches. The nerves stop doing their work properly. They protest against neglect and abuse.

Their tired, sick condition is shown in many ways, sometimes one way, sometimes another.

Headaches, "unstrung," "worn out," "run down," "nervous," "blue," all warnings from sick nerves.

Health, vigor, determination, courage—in fact, all that makes life worth living depends upon a healthy supply of nerve force.

Paine's Celery Compound makes new Nerve Force, it revives the old force and makes new.

It not only does this, but by strengthening the nerves that control all the organs of the body, it cures the real cause of headaches, neuralgia, rheumatism, malaria, and the many diseases coming from a run down condition of the nerves.

For 18 years Paine's Celery Compound has been the most universally used nerve-vitalizer and tonic in the world. For 18 years—think of this fact and realize what it means.

Read the experience of Mrs. L. F. Mulray after La Grippe:

"Following a severe attack of La Grippe my general health seemed to be seriously affected. I suffered from constant nervous headache and was so unstrung that every thing irritated me until I was in a precarious condition. I also was troubled with sleeplessness and would rise in the morning more weary than when I went to bed. As my medicine did not seem to help me any, the doctor advised a complete change, but, as I was unable to go away, a neighbor advised me to try Paine's Celery Compound. I used it faithfully for a week, feeling that I daily grew better and stronger and my health kept gradually improving until I had used three and a half bottles, when I was in perfect health, with no trace of my former troubles. A number of my friends who saw what Paine's Celery Compound had done for me have used it since, and they all feel as pleased with results as I am. Yours very truly,"—Mrs. L. F. Mulray, Fifth and Mercer streets, Seattle, Wash., Treasurer Skoogay Country Club.

Thousands of grateful patients tell of the unflinching effect of Paine's Celery Compound as a nerve vitalizer and tonic. Physicians, the world over, use and prescribe it and testify to wonderful cures.

One bottle will prove its wonderful properties—it gives almost instant effect.

Try Paine's Celery Compound to-day. It braces you up at once.

See how much better you feel.

Let Paine's Celery Compound strengthen and restore your nerves, nourish your system, purify your blood and help you back to vigorous, buoyant health.

A ROSE OF NORMANDY

By WILLIAM R. A. WILSON

"Te dolts and rebels that cry forth for justice and threaten to raise arms against a tyrant, hear me! Know ye not that I am governor, that in my person stands the king? If I have done aught amiss, I am answerable to him. You clamor against my enforcement of the law. What would you? That I overlook his infringement and thus give seeming ground for more lying letters and infamous reports? Were I to gloss over the transgressions of the law like you, M. l'intendant, with your illicit brandy-trade, your connivance with coureurs-de-bois and fur-traders, the king would have anarchy throughout his colony instead of law and order. The case is plain. M. D'Amours admits the commission of his fault, but claims the right of private interpretation of the king's commands. That right I deny. Were I to allow law-breaking in high places to go unpunished, in six months who would be found in all the colony who would not point to these as precedents, and excuse themselves? As for you who seek to fight a tyrant, know well with whom you have to deal." Then leaning over, he whispered low to his secretary, who hastily wrote at his dictation. When he had finished he quickly signed his name, and calling to a soldier standing guard outside the door, handed the paper to him, saying:

"Lieut. Bizard, here is an order of banishment from Quebec for Messieurs Tilly, Auteuil and Villiray; they are to retire to their country homes and remain there, awaiting my commands. See that this order is obeyed; and stamping out of the room, he was gone.

CHAPTER XII.

DEVOTED TO SECRET SERVICE, SHOWING THAT WALLS AND OTHER INANIMATE OBJECTS OFTEN HAVE EARS.

The scenes of anger and violence were over. The exiled councillors had retired to their homes on parole that they would leave Quebec the next morning. The inhabitants of the Chateau were all asleep, and the entire citadel was again at peace.

A sentinel pacing his weary watch upon the rampart was the only living thing visible in the moonlight, while the barking of a solitary dog in the lower town and the distant howl of a hungry wolf from the direction of Boanpre were the only sounds apparently that broke the silence of a continent.

It was already after midnight, and the guard had been changed, when a keen eye might have seen a dark figure pass silently along within the shade of the barracks, the guard-room, and the Chateau itself, until it finally was merged in the deep shadow of the magazine at the extreme end of the fort. Soon after another form appeared, gliding by the same route to a common rendezvous. Within the shelter of the buttresses they stood and conversed in low tones, while awaiting the arrival of some one else. At length a third muffled figure joined them, and asked in an authoritative voice:

"Are we all here?"

"Yes, M. l'intendant, and waiting," spoke up one of the group rather testily, as he shivered with the cold and drew his cloak closer about his shoulders.

"Pardon my delay, Monsieur l'Evêque," replied Duchesneau, "but I was merely taking the necessary precautions. I gave orders to have an extra amount of liquor served to the soldiers in the guard-room to-night, and delayed my coming until I had made sure that your sentinel received his double allowance before his turn came."

Is Your Blood and Stomach Out of Order?

IF SO READ THIS.

The experience of Mrs. F. E. Ritter, of Dallas, Texas, who our medicines is best told by herself in a letter written on July 8, 1904, which reads as follows: "I know from personal experience that Seven Barks and Globe Pills are the very best medicines on earth for Blood and Stomach troubles. I am in better health than I ever was in my life. You are at liberty to publish my opinion of your medicines. I hope that God's blessing will follow you through life."

We don't know Mrs. Ritter, but we do know that Seven Barks has cured a good many people who suffered with disordered stomachs. We know, too, that it is a purely vegetable remedy, and people say it is easy and pleasant to take. The doses are small. Seven Barks has been made and sold for 35 years, and if it wasn't a sure cure for stomach troubles, the company back of it wouldn't refund the money if it failed to cure. But you don't know the company, you say; all right, you know us. Deposit 50 cents with us and take a bottle of Seven Barks home and try it. If it doesn't do all that is claimed, bring the empty or partly used bottle back and get your money. There is only one way to be cured and that is to try it, and we don't know of any fairer way to get you to make the trial. Do you?

WEDNESDAY IS BARGAIN DAY

Read the list of merchants and their bargains in the Tuesday Gazette.

He is too happy now to watch the shadows very closely; listen, you can hear him singing to himself."

"But are you sure we are entirely secure here?" spoke up the third member of the group, who looked uneasily about him.

"Certainement!" Duchesneau replied, with a slight touch of scorn in his tones, "unless the obscurity about us or yonder log have ears. But to the business we have come for." Then turning to the first speaker again, he went on: "Your letter to M. le Ministre, Monsieur l'Evêque, did not seem to have much weight, for the Sieur de la Salle has come in spite of your efforts."

"True, M. l'intendant," was the reply, "but it seems that he managed to gain the ear of the king first. Listen while I give you the words of his reply; and he repeated from memory the secret letter of Colbert's."

There was silence for a moment. Duchesneau, still smarting after the defeat in the council chamber, exclaimed with a muttered oath:

"Our plans go wrong at every point, despite our efforts." Then stamping his foot angrily, "Mon Dieu! the governor's power increases daily. The success of the expedition of La Salle will redound to his glory and make him more arrogant and insufferable than ever."

"And our fur supply cut off and the trade destroyed," wailed another.

"His efforts must be frustrated," resumed Duchesneau, who had suddenly conceived a plan, "but each of you must do his share."

"I shall send a trusty member of the order with La Salle who will warn the Indians against him," the man exclaimed.

"And I shall see that among his men there shall be a sufficient number devoted to our interest to cause his failure, perhaps instigate a mutiny at the proper moment; he may never come back," was the significant rejoinder of another conspirator.

"But remember, no violence," cried the priest in alarm.

The priest, who was none other than Laval, bishop of Quebec, feeling that the lateness of the hour, the secret meeting, and the lonely place were not befitting the dignity of his position, grew impatient and interposed.

"It grows late," he said, "and I have a vigil to keep before sunrise. I must be gone. Our plans are formed; let each supply the details of his part; and muffled up his face, he disappeared around the corner of the magazine."

Duchesneau waited until he was sure of the bishop's departure, then muttered after his retreating figure: "No violence, Monsieur l'Evêque, but if La Salle should have trouble with the savages and an arrow or bullet find its way into his carcase, we should not be to blame."

"But how will you secure M. Tonty?" asked his companion. "He is devoted to La Salle and cannot be bought."

"With gold, no. But what always succeeds when money falls?"

"You mean—"

"Yes, a woman."

"But who?"

"Leave that to me; that is my affair. See that you do your duty. Bon soir! Be ready to meet me again at any time."

So saying, the intendant took his way homeward. A moment later the spot was deserted.

The moon sank slowly towards her goal; the witchery of her light enveloped all the earth, making it a strange, weird world. And, as though in keeping with the uncanny hour and place, behold a miracle! For soon after the departure of the last member of the midnight council, the log lying within two spaces of the spot where stood the three intriguers moved, stirred, arose, and stretching arms and cramped legs, stole quietly away, muttering:

"The night time is a cloak for sinners. Mon Dieu! many enemies, much honor."

Day was stealing in at the windows of the chateau when Tonty was aroused by a slight touch on the forehead, and, opening his eyes, was for the moment startled at the strangeness of his surroundings. He soon perceived through the gray light the figure of Pompon standing beside his bed, waiting silently until he should become thoroughly awakened.

"Pardieu! mon cher Pompon, and how did you get in?" he exclaimed, rubbing his eyes and sitting up. Pompon pointed to an open window at the other side of the room. "He who sleeps catches no fish," and drawing up a chair, seated himself beside the bed.

"For your part, you have evidently been fishing all night to judge by the dirt and disorder of your clothes. But what news do you bring? for there must be something important on your mind. One does not usually climb in at windows at dawn simply to say 'Bon jour!'"

"You are right. I have important news and such that you must know quickly. If your brain is sufficiently cleared to listen and understand, I will relate rapidly what I have done and learned since we landed yesterday."

"Begin," said Tonty, as he settled back into a comfortable position.

"To show you I have not been idle, I will start at the moment when we stepped ashore. Just after whispering to you to leave me to my own devices, I slipped through the crowd while you were being welcomed by the governor. I was anxious not to be recognized as belonging to the party of Sieur de la Salle, so I found my way to the tavern of Jacques Boisson, on the square near the church, a place recommended to me by one of the sailors as the center of all the social and political intrigue in Quebec. I secured my lodging and soon made friends with Marie, daughter of the tavern-keeper, whom I found to be pretty and with a tongue that never ceases its chatter. She is evidently weary of her male admirers of the place, and found a stranger fresh from Paris a being to wonder at, admire, and one to whom she could tell all she knew of the city and its people."

A subdued chuckle came from Tonty, as he said:

"Peste! Pompon, how the air of the country changes one. You leave France a hater of all womankind, and an hour after you arrive here you are at the feet of the first fair charmer you meet."

"In all undertakings it is necessary to consider the end. I had a part to play. Tell a woman she is handsome and you will turn her head; tell her she is wonderful fair and she will soon turn-fool and tell you all she knows. This one knew much and has told me everything. I have learned who and where our enemies are. The situation is like this: Two distinct parties exist, the one headed by the governor, and consisting of Barrois, his secretary, and Bizard, lieutenant of his guard, Du Lhut, leader of the coureurs-de-bois, and La Salle, together with a majority of the council and most of the common people; the other, headed by the intendant Duchesneau, consists of a few members of the council, Le Moine and his sons, Jacques Le Ber, and several other fur-merchants, the Bishop Laval, together with all the Order of the Jesuits. The quarrel between the two leaders is one due to their official positions: the intendant is jealous of the powers granted to the governor and writes continually complaints of his actions; the governor in turn is jealous of the intendant regarding him as a spy upon his movements. Then, too, Frontenac is in secret sympathy with the outlawed coureurs-de-bois, and is lax in his efforts to apprehend and punish him. He has an eye to the profits they make in trade, and undoubtedly shares in them."

"Cospetto!" cried Tonty, "how much you have learned in so short a time."

"There is more to tell yet," continued Pompon. "Duchesneau in turn is interested in the profits of a certain group of traders here and at Montreal, of whom Jacques Le Ber is at the head; hence an additional reason for his hatred of the governor and the desire to thwart his plans. The Jesuits look with disfavor on the exploration plans of Frontenac and La Salle, claiming that they would mean the ruin of the Indian tribes they wish to convert, and whom they claim are supplied with brandy by the governor's friends, the coureurs-de-bois. Frontenac believes that they have an eye to the fur-trade themselves, and that it is the beaver skins and not the beaver souls that they fear to lose. He claims, too, that he has proof of their selling brandy also. They are bitter likewise at the evident favor shown by the governor to the Recollet-friars."

"Sangué di Dio!" burst forth Tonty, "what a sea of hot water the comte's patronage will throw us into. The clergy, the intendant and his faction, and a lot of rascally traders. You have indeed done well to learn all this in time."

"Truly," responded Pompon, "a man warned is half saved. Our enemies will do all they can to hinder our success. Listen. After making love to the pretty Marie, about ten o'clock, as I was lying on one of the benches at the tavern thinking over all that had been told me, a man entered the room, which was empty save for myself, and after looking about carefully and seeing only me, asleep and snoring, with an empty glass near me on the table, he sat down as though awaiting some one. All are not asleep who have their eyes shut, however, so although I continued with my drunken snores, my ears were open. Soon another man entered and they commenced a conversation of seeming serious import. I caught the words 'magazine,' 'midnight,' 'Monsieur l'Evêque,' before they left. I was awake in an instant. I felt it my duty to be present at any midnight meeting they might have. Making my way to the spot an hour before the time appointed, I rolled myself in a cloak, and, lying on the ground, I threw a lot of dried leaves and earth over me, hoping to escape detection. I was almost discovered, however. At midnight three men came, whom I learned from their conversation were the intendant—"

"Ventre-saint-gris!" exclaimed Tonty in astonishment.

"Laval, bishop of Quebec."

"And—"

"And Jacques Le Ber, the fur-trader from Montreal."

"Come du diable! Our worst enemies! What did they say?"

"They vowed vengeance on Frontenac and intend to strike at him through La Salle."

Pompon then related the details of the plans he had overheard. Tonty laughed heartily. "Peste!" said he, "but the game is a pretty one. So a woman is to win my favor and make a traitor of me? Pardieu! there is one woman," he murmured, "but—per Dio! not even for my Rose would I be false to a trust."

"I spent the rest of the night," continued Pompon, "walking up and down along the edge of the river seeking a plan by which to foil their purpose; I have not formed one yet, so we must simply watch for the next move of the enemy. I must return, as it is now full day and some early riser might not understand my leaving by a window. Tell La Salle as much of the matter as you think best. For my part, I believe he had best remain ignorant; we can help him better so."

And with this word Pompon put his leg over the window-sill and dropped lightly to the ground.

A HEALTHY FAMILY

Is the one that can rightfully boast of pure blood. When the rich, red wine of life is coursing through the veins it imparts vigor and strength to the body and healthy action to all parts of the system. A healthy family is a wealthy family; it may be poor in worldly goods, but possessed of a priceless jewel that all the riches of earth cannot buy. A healthy family may not carry in their veins the blood of titled nobles or distinguished ancestors, but vigorous health is always an evidence of the best and purest blood, for the vital fluid contains all material necessary for the making of bone and muscle and the growth and development of the body, and upon its purity rests our chances for good health. When the body is fed upon weak, sickly blood the system languishes, growth is stunted, disease enters without hindrance, and the simplest maladies are apt to develop into serious sicknesses. In so many ways does the blood become contaminated that the fewest number succeed in keeping this life-giving, health-sustaining fluid in a pure and natural state. We inherit the disease-tainted blood of ancestors, parents transmit to their children such impoverished and weak blood that their lives are a continuous battle against disease, and from earliest infancy are harassed by sores and the most dreadful skin eruptions, and heirs to some old family disease. No one has a right to throw upon the shoulders of posterity a disease that might have been cured, or allow the blood to remain impure without an effort to restore it to health. Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula and many of the severest forms of skin diseases are frequently inherited, and only the most thorough constitutional treatment can remove them. Bad blood is responsible for more ill health than all other causes combined; it absorbs the poisons that gather in the system, and the germs and microbes floating in the air find their way into the circulation, and old sores

Some ten years ago I used your S. S. S. with the most satisfactory results. From childhood up I had been bothered with bad blood, characterized by skin eruptions and boils, especially bad in the summer. For five or six summers I had boils ranging from five to twenty in number each season. Our local physicians prescribed for me, but nothing they gave me did away with the annoying skin eruptions or prevented the boils from appearing. The burning accompanying the eruption was terrible, and I had as high as six boils at one time. My condition was truly a pitiable one when I began S. S. S. It seemed to be just the medicine needed in my case. It drove out all impurities and bad blood and restored the circulation to its original strength and purity, giving me permanent relief from the skin eruption and boils. This has been ten years ago and I have never had a return of the disease. I would state also that my husband has taken it with good results.

MRS. J. D. ATHERTON.

newark, Ohio, May 23, 1903.

If you do not come of a strong and vigorous family and your blood shows evidence of impurity, nothing will so quickly bring it back to a healthy condition as S. S. S., the most widely known and popular blood remedy on the market. It purifies and builds up weak, sluggish blood and stimulates the circulation, and thus aids the system of impurities. S. S. S. contains tonic as well as blood purifying properties, and builds up the general health, improves the appetite and digestion, and tones up the nerves while ridding the blood of all poisons and humors. Nothing reaches old chronic blood troubles like S. S. S., and being a strictly vegetable remedy can be taken by old and young without any bad after effects or injury to the system. As a blood purifier and tonic at this season S. S. S. has no superior. It puts the blood in good order, removes all poisonous accumulations, invigorates all parts of the system and prevents that debilitated, tired feeling common to this time of year. Keeping the blood healthy is the secret of all healthy families. Write us if in need of medical advice, which our physicians will furnish free of charge. A satin finished crepe is combined with a hand-made Italian lace with an effect of luxury and smartness that is delightful to behold. Simplicity of outline but elaboration of detail best describes this gown. The lace assumes a yoke and bodice form on the corsage and the corsage is emphasized with a band of granium red velvet ribbon, contrasting prettily with the white satin crepe surface. The skirt has front panel of lace, the sides and back being in four tiers, all shirred and joined with lace, and a lace flounce, shallow and edged with the granium red velvet, makes a pretty finish at the foot. The corsage front has two large button-mould covered with the red velvet, these edged with a plisse ribbon and embellished with embroidery stitches.

Doings Of the Autoists

Where Will the Deadly Races for New Records
Stop?—Will Two Miles a Minute Satisfy the Speed Demons?—President Lee of A. A. A.

What speed will daring automobile operators attain before the death record becomes so appalling as to cause a cessation of attacks on time? This is the question that an amazed public is asking.

"Two miles in one minute" is the war cry of the automobilists of America and of Europe. One hundred and twenty miles an hour! Impossible speed it may seem, but an automobile has reached a speed of 110 miles an hour, and but ten miles an hour faster must be traveled to reach the goal.

Herbert L. Bowden, who traveled a mile in 32.45 seconds recently on the Ormond-Daytona (Fla.) beach, spent $50,000 to reach these remarkable figures. He rebuilt an automobile at great expense, fitting to the chassis two engines, each of sixty horsepower, these tandem engines attaining a horsepower combined of 125. Though the cost of this car was so very great, it is now only fit for rebuilding, for a faster one must be constructed.

Among the millionaires who are warm supporters of automobile racing and enthusiastic devotees in the dangerous sport there is the most intense rivalry. The ambition of every one who races an automobile is to attain the tremendous speed of two miles a minute.

A Million Dollars.
Perhaps a million dollars, perhaps more, will be spent before next year to secure special cars to reach the mark. Lasting fame will come to him who first succeeds. Wealth will not be spared to win the honor of being first to travel 120 miles an hour.

H. L. BOWDEN IN MACHINE THAT MADE THE WORLD'S MILE RECORD OF 32.45 SECONDS.

A railroad train is credited with a mile in thirty-two seconds, or 112 miles to the hour. This time was undoubtedly taken by men traveling on the train and timing from the flash of the mile posts as they were passed. In automobilism such a record would never be allowed, for men who drive cars in practice spins and time that way invariably allow from a second to two seconds, as they claim it is impossible to stop the watch right on the imaginary line.

Autos Timed Electrically.
Mr. Bowden's record was timed electrically—that is to say, when the big

PRESIDENT E. C. LEE OF THE A. A. A.

car reached the tape the front wheels depressed a wire tape. Immediately a pistol was fired on the timing stand, and watches were started electrically both at the tape and at the finishing line. In crossing the tape at the finish the watches were stopped, and the pistol was again fired. From start to finish of the ride human hands did not touch an instrument, and through the firing of the pistol at start and finish it was possible for spectators to time the trial, and scores did so.

Mr. Bowden must, therefore, be credited with the greatest flight through the air ever known, yet he is not satisfied.

When at the Ormond meet of last year William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., attained a speed of thirty-nine seconds to the mile the entire world stood aghast, for such time as that had never been contemplated. In Europe, after recovering from their astonishment, the natives started a cry of "Fakel!" There was intimation that "the Florida air" must have got into the watches of the timers.

European Record.
Then a European reached one kilometer in 21.35 seconds, figures which if sustained for the mile would have given him time faster than Mr. Vanderbilt's by a second and a small fraction. It was then that Europe became interested in America's fast beach course, and when Arthur McDonald, the young Scotchman, came over this year and did 34.15 seconds not a word was heard from abroad in regard to the timing.

Europeans are now speculating upon the two mile a minute mark, and some remarkable racing cars are said to be in course of construction for next year's Ormond meet. In these cars the best makers of Europe will prepare especially for beach work, which means purely straightaway racing.

The Kind of Car Needed.
To build a successful car for this sort of racing and especially for faster time than has been made means many radical changes. In the first place, the car must be built low; it should also be built long.

In the estimation of many the car should be built to a point in order that the wind may be cut. This, however, is a mooted question, for there are many who will argue that the pointed hood or front presents as great a surface to the wind as the flat front in use on so many cars today. It is also claimed that the successful car for two miles a minute should be built scoop shaped in front in order that the rushing air may keep the car on the ground and give it traction.

For many reasons the weight of the successful car will be distributed well to the rear in order that the extra weight will bear down upon the rear wheels, which drive the car. In gaining traction an advantage is secured.

Mr. Bowden's successful car was extremely long, a considerable addition having been made to the original chassis. It was also narrow, much narrower than the ordinary car. It was low built and heavy, giving certain traction. In his effort he gained very little advantage from the wind, for but a slight breeze blew at the time.

Had there been such a gale of wind as that encountered by William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., when he accomplished his mile in thirty-nine seconds it is barely possible that Mr. Bowden would have traveled at the speed of 120 miles to the hour.

Had any one predicted but a year ago that an automobile would be driven in 1905 at a speed of 110 miles an hour the prediction would have been regarded as extravagant beyond all reason, yet today automobilists have stopped wondering at this speed, and the predictions on all sides favor 120 miles an hour. It may even be that this great speed will be beaten when the time comes, even though the fraction be but small.

In this connection there is a question eagerly discussed. Will the automobilists be satisfied when they reach the 120 mile an hour mark? Certainly not. Whoever heard of an autolst being satisfied with any record he ever made?

President E. C. Lee.
Elliot C. Lee, the new president of the American Automobile association, is well known in the automobile world, as he has for some time been the president of the prominent Massachusetts Automobile club as well as a director in the A. A. A. Mr. Lee has been an enthusiast since 1888. He has always had a decided preference for the steam car.

Mr. Lee is a member of the well known Boston family of that name. His home is in Brookline, Mass., where he has a fine old estate which has been the property of the Lee family for generations. On the ground there is a garage equipped with every convenience.

Mr. Lee's hospitality is boundless, and a visitor to his home carries away the feeling that he has been the guest of a true gentleman and sportsman of the old school. Mr. Lee's tact and charming personality insure a most prosperous era for the A. A. A.

PROTEST GIFT BY ROCKEFELLER

Committee of Ministers Declare That the Company Stands Before the Public in Position That Is Unenviable From Every View.

Boston, March 22.—Because of the reputation of the Standard Oil company, an organized protest has been made by a number of Congregational ministers to the acceptance by the American board, the foreign missionary society of the Congregational church, of the recent gift to it by John D. Rockefeller of $100,000.

A conference of the ministers of this city and vicinity was held Tuesday at the Twentieth Century club house, at which the protest was formulated. The formal document bears the names of twenty-seven protesters. The protest follows:

Letter of Protest.
"To the Prudential Committee of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions:

"Dear Brethren—The public prints of the week ended March 18, 1905, report a gift of $100,000 to the foreign missionary society of the Congregational churches from John D. Rockefeller, the head of the Standard Oil company. This company stands before the public under repeated and recent formidable indictments in specific terms for methods which are morally iniquitous and socially destructive. To arouse the moral reprobation of the general conscience, and to direct it against specific offenses and offenders is the supreme need of the hour.

The church is the moral educator and leader of the people, and in order to fulfill this calling with freedom and effect, it must stand entirely clear of any implication in the evil it is set to condemn. The acceptance of such a gift involves the constituents of the board in a relation implying honor toward the donor, and subjects the board to the charge of ignoring the moral issues involved.

"We, the undersigned, therefore protest against any action by which our church may even seem to be compromised, and we plead with the officers of the board to decline the gift of Mr. Rockefeller or to return it if it has been accepted."

Committee Presents Case.
The conference organized with Rev. Daniel Evans of Cambridge as chairman and Rev. David Torrey of Bedford as clerk. After the protest had been adopted and signed a committee was appointed to present it in person to the prudential committee, which was then in session.

When the conference committee appeared before the prudential committee the ministers' protest was supported by the committee members, Revs. Chas. L. Noyes, William A. Knight, C. F. Carter, Daniel Evans and George C. Morris, by arguments and statements of fact, and the action of the American board was defended by J. M. W. Hall, Rev. Drs. James L. Barton, E. E. Strong and others.

The discussion continued more than two hours, and at its conclusion the prudential committee held an executive session, which continued until nearly 6 o'clock. At its adjournment Dr. Barton made the following statement for the prudential committee:

May Oppose Acceptance.
"A memorial of protest regarding the Rockefeller gift of $100,000 was presented to the committee of five gentlemen, and a lengthy discussion ensued. The conference was most pleasant and without any friction or harshness. The whole matter was thoroughly and dispassionately debated on both sides, from the standpoint of principle as well as policy.

"The memorial will receive a full and thorough consideration on the part of the prudential committee, which will render its decision in due time."

The specific objects to which the Rockefeller gift is to be applied are five educational institutions in Japan, Turkey, Bulgaria, India and Ceylon, and the publication work of the board in Turkey.

At the meeting of the ministers letters and telegrams were read indicating that the spirit of protest is widespread in the denomination and embraces men high in the councils of the church.

HEAD-ON COLLISION BETWEEN TWO TEMPERAMENTS!

Every hour, all over the city—in homes, in factories, in stores, in offices—collisions are occurring between incompatible human temperaments. The housewife is conservative, likes to keep her china and furniture intact; the servant is iconoclastic—a "collision between temperament" occurs, and a "want ad." tells those girls who can read that a servant is wanted at a certain home.

The factory-foreman, always opposed to square pegs in round holes, finds that one of his workmen is a mis-fit. Again a temperament collision. And a workman who is a "round peg" finds a want ad. that offers a better job for him than his present one, and the other man advertises for a job where square pegs are needed.

A store-manager finds that a certain clerk has not an ounce of salesmanship in his make-up. Collision again.

A want ad. brings another clerk to the store; and finds a job for the ex-clerk where salesmanship is not a requisite.

In the office the stenographer got to "running the business."

Boss was a "brute," and believed he could manage things himself.

Simply another Collision Between Temperaments. Want ad. found a "boss" for the young lady who rather liked to be managed; and found a stenographer for the old "boss" who didn't "grate on his nerves."
